

Flomo
muzo

Flomo is employable just about anywhere thoughts flow. Outdoor collaborative environments need not sacrifice any of the affordable tools of an inside space. Nature inspires the birth of even more ideas and we need to capture them.

Remarkably light in weight, Flomo boards can be flung over the shoulder from your morning focus group by the lake, to your afternoon presentation on the bandstand. The Flomo belt can then be used to attach the board to a tree or nearest support structure including Muzo X-bricks. Alternatively you can use a Flomo easel.

Its writing surface, made of enamelled sheet steel in DIN A0 format, has room enough for ideas and drawings; whether created with markers directly; or onto paper mounted with magnets. The white writing surface is embedded in a support plate made of expanded polypropylene: it is super-light, has extra-grip, being non-slip due to its structured surface – and at the same time, the form protects the flomo board.
